All spiders spin webs. That's because webs help spiders. Webs help spiders do three things. Webs help spiders hold eggs. Webs help spiders hide. And webs help spiders catch food. Webs help spiders hold eggs. Many spiders like to lay their eggs in their webs. The webs help keep the eggs together. Webs help spiders keep their eggs safe. Webs help spiders hide. Most spiders are dark. They are brown, grey, or black. But spider webs are light. They are white and cloudy. When spiders hide in their webs, they are harder to see. Webs help spiders catch food. Spider webs are sticky. When a bug flies into the web, it gets stuck. It moves around. It tries to get out. But it can't. It is trapped! Spiders can tell that the bug is stuck. That's because spiders feel the web move. And the spider is hungry. The spider goes to get the bug. As you can see, webs help spiders hold eggs. Webs help spiders hide. And webs help spiders catch food. Without webs, spiders would not be able to live like they do. Spiders need their webs to survive.

Read the text and choose the correct answer

What do you like on your pizza? Cheese? Tomatoes? Sausage?

People may disagree on their favorite ingredients, but many people agree that pizza is a favorite food. Where and when did people start making pizza? To find out, we have to travel back in time.

Thousands of years ago, people used ancient types of wheat and other grains to make flat bread on the hot rock of their campfires. At some point in time, early cooks started putting other kinds of food on the bread – using the bread as a plate. It was the world’s first pizza crust!

Over time, pizza began to look more like the food we know today. When European explorers arrived in the Americas, they saw Native American people eating tomatoes. When they brought tomatoes back to Europe, however, people there wouldn’t eat them. They thought eating tomatoes could make them ill.

Slowly, however, Europeans discovered that tomatoes were delicious and safe to eat. Cooks in Naples, an Italian city, began putting tomatoes on their flat bread. The world’s first true pizza shop opened in Naples in 1830. People there ate pizza for lunch and dinner. They even ate it for breakfast!

In the late 1800s, many Italians moved to the United States. They brought pizza with them. The first American pizzeria, or pizza restaurant, was Lombardi’s in New York City. It opened its doors in 1905. Now pizza is one of the three most popular foods in the USA, but Americans are not the only pizza lovers.

People now eat around five billion pizzas a year, and everyone has their favorite kind. Brazilians love green peas on their pizza. Russians like fish and onions. People in India use lamb and tofu. The Japanese think seafood on pizza is good. Some pizzas truly sound strange, yet all of them share two things. Each begins with bread. And each is slice of history.

1. Who would eat tomatoes first? 1 point

- A. America            B. Native Americans            C. Europe            D. Italians

2. Why is the history of eating tomatoes important? 1 point

- A. Tomato is famous as the first topping on pizza.            C. Italian cooks would put tomatoes on their flat bread.
B. Tomato was poisonous that could make people ill.            D. Europeans discovered that tomatoes were delicious.

3. Which of the following statements is TRUE according to the text? 2 points

- A. Italians and Americans are the only pizza lovers.

Facebook offers several benefits, such as staying connected with friends and family, networking opportunities, and access to news and entertainment. It also provides a platform for businesses to reach a wider audience.

However, there are drawbacks, including privacy concerns, the spread of misinformation, and potential addiction. Excessive use can lead to decreased face-to-face interactions and mental health issues.

While Facebook can be a valuable tool, it's important to use it mindfully to avoid its negative impacts
