SECTION 3 READING

Read the text.

My name is Zorig. I'm a student at the 4th school in Erdenet, Mongolia. I study in the morning with many classmates and teachers. When my classes finish at 1 o'clock. I often go home and have lunch. Then I try to meet my friends. The afternoon is when I have free time. At night, I study my lessons and do my homework. During the winter it is too cold to do anything outside. So I read books in my free time in winter. But in fall and spring I like to be outside a lot. My friends and I often go to the mountains and hills that surround our city. In fall there are many delicious fruits and beautiful flowers on the hillsides. In the spring my friends and I try to pick up trash from the hills. There is a lot of trash that is blown by the wind during the spring, so it is nice to pick it up before there is too much on the hillsides. This is what my friends and I think. So we sometimes spend our free time doing this. Of course, we also play basketball. So, as you can see I try to keep very busy in my free time.

In 1833 Charles Babbage invented all the parts that are now used for a modern computer. But it was only 120 years later that the first "modern" computers were invented. Konrad Zuse was the inventor of the first computer in the world in 1936 and he named it the Z.I. In 1939, he created the Z2 as the first electro - mechanical computer in the world. The first computers were around the size of a large room and they used electricity. Modern computers are very different from the first ones. Can you imagine your life without a computer? It helps you easily find out information that you need do your homework, play games, connect with other people, share news and pictures and download your favorite films and music. But how much do you know about computers? Computers have a microprocessor that can make fast calculations. They also have a memory or RAM. This stores all the information you need when you're not using it. It also keeps everything your computer needs to work nice and safe. Computers also have fans to keep them cool.

The Tall Gongor, Undur Gongor, known all over Mongolia as Undur Gongor, was an unusually tall man. He was 236 centimetres tall. He was the third child of a herder named Purev, who lived in what is today Jargalant soum of KHuvsgul aimag. He was not particularly big as a child, only had long fingers. He was sent to Ikh Khuree where he became a keeper of the Bogd Khan's elephant. But some sources say that he was a wrestler, or an accountant in the Bogd Khan's palace. In 1913, he travelled to Russia with a delegation headed by Sain Noyon Khan Namnansuren. Ondor Gongor had four children. He died in the late 1920s, before reaching the age of 50.
