Floods damaged more than 1,000 homes in the Guttersby area yesterday. This was after Storm Nigel brought heavy rain, thunder and lightning late on Saturday night. The rain caused the River Wendel to rise by 3 metres on Sunday. This is the maximum height the river has reached since 2000, when it reached 5.4 metres. The weather forecast is for more bad weather for the next few days. We have a foggy start to tomorrow morning, so drivers be careful on the roads. It's important for cyclists to be careful on the roads, too. On Wednesday we expect to see snow and ice. This will be especially hard for people in the north of the country because of very low temperatures and even more flooding. The government is telling people to move upstairs in their homes and take water, food and power banks with them. Then, wait for help to arrive.

43. When did the recent flood happen?

44. What's the weather forecast for the next morning?

45. Which two groups need to be careful on the roads?

46. In which part of the country will the weather be very bad on Wednesday?

47. Where do they recommend people go in their homes?

E: CORRECT THE MISTAKE. /1items x 1point each=1points/

Good morning and here's the 8 o'clock weather on Thursday. Floods damaged more than 1,000 homes in the Broadstershire area last night. This was after Storm Amber brought a lot of rain, thunder and lightning. The weather caused the River Punzel to rise by 2 metres. This is the maximum height the river has reached since 2014, when it reached 4.8 metres. More bad weather is coming. We have a very windy start to tomorrow morning, so be careful in your cars. It's important for cyclists to be careful on the roads, too. They also expect fog and heavy rain to arrive on Saturday. This will be especially hard for people in the west of the country because it brings even more flooding. The government is telling people to stay upstairs in their homes and take food, water and power banks with them. Then call 999 for help. When things have improved, people can call 161987 to offer to help others.

- 43. Where did the recent flood happen?

- 44. How many extra metres of water did the river have?

- 45. Apart from drivers, who needs to be careful?
